GIGANTIC BLACKMAIL.

Illegitimate Revenue Received by the Police of New York.

Bribes Accepted From Saloons, Gamblers, and Disorderly Places to Permit Law Violations.

NEW YORK, June 14.—A New York paper which has heretofore been regarded as favorable to Tammany, prints over a column under the head of "Police Revenue." It is sought to be shown in this article the amount of illegitimate revenue said to have been received by the police of New York annually, and this showing is based upon the testimony thus far taken before the Lexow investigation committee.

The paper starts out with a statement of the number of men employed on the police force with 3,160. The fact is cited that the amount appropriated by the board estimate in the budget of 1894 is $5,139,147. This amount is entered up as the legitimate sum received by the police force by its maintenance. The paper introduces its showing as follows:

The testimony brought out by the Lexow investigating committee shows that the police, in addition to the salaries from the city, have had additional income contributed by the keepers of disorderly houses, saloons, gambling houses, merchants and push cart peddlers. This extra income is called paying for protection by those who pay. By the public it is sometimes called blackmail. The police probably call it perquisites.

If the testimony is true the police were very vigilant in locating all persons who could be forced to contribute to this extra fund for their benefit. While an exact estimate of the income of the police from these sources is impossible, at this stage of the investigation enough facts have been made public to show that it was enormous, and approximately correct figures can be made.

The fact is cited that there are 7,000 saloons in the city of New York, and the paper recounts that the alleged police charges for protection for side doors open Sunday is $10 a week for each saloon. Allowing that only one-half of the saloons paid these charges the total for one year is arrived at, towit: $1,820,000.

The paper quotes, in a conversation held today with an official of the police department, who estimates the number of degraded women in the city to be 46,000. Upon the basis of the last census an estimate of five persons to a house is made and upon this basis it is stated that the 45,000 immoral women in New York are quartered in 5,000 disorderly houses. According to the alleged police schedule of prices for opening disorderly houses the income to the police from this one source is estimated by the paper to be $3,600,000. After the opening of these immoral houses, according to the evidence before the Lexow committee, the keepers of the houses are required to pay from $50 to $100 per month, and the paper making these estimates reckons that from this source the police receive an annual income of $8,100,000. Four hundred and fifty thousand dollars a year is estimated as the amount of the alleged extra charges for special favors and protection from the police. The estimated income from gambling houses and policy shops is $165,000 a year.

There are reckoned to be other special rates levied upon merchants for the privilege of putting boxes on their sidewalks, merchants who want to keep open on Sunday, and push cart peddlers who want to evade the city ordinance that prohibits them from standing more than five minutes in one place.

The paper, which is quoted, states that 200 new policemen are placed upon the force each year and estimates upon the basis of the alleged rate of $300 to get on the force that the income from this source is $60,000 a year. The grand total made upon the basis of the testimony presented before the Lexow committee, including the legitimate appropriation made by the state to maintain the police and the other items above referred to, aggregate $15,354,147. The following are the items which enter into this total:

From the city, $5,139,147.64; disorderly houses, $8,120,000; saloons, $1,820,000; gambling houses, $165,000; merchants and peddlers, $50,000; new members on the force, $60,000. Grand total income, $15,354,147.64.

Coffin Brothers Refuse to Talk About Justice Harlan's Ruling.

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., June 14.—At 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon Francis and Percival Coffin, the men who a week ago were convicted of complicity in wrecking the First National bank of Indianapolis, were summoned from the south cellhouse of the northern prison into the deputy warden's office by Warden French. The men entered the room, hats in hand, and were assigned seats, awaiting the pleasure of the warden, who announced to the prisoners the contents of a telegram relating to the granting of the supercedeas. The prisoners received the information without a word of comment, but their demeanor indicated a feeling of bouyancy and triumph. In reply to a request for an expression regarding the result, Francis, the elder of the two, said:

"We have little to say. We lived in a frame of mind to accept the ruling of the court philosophically, and now that the decision is in our favor, all we can say is that we are pleased that it is so. Had it gone the other way we would have abided by the judgment of the court without a word of complaint or a feeling of resentment against anybody in the world, and would have settled down to make the most of our surroundings."

THE INSIDE HISTORY.

Terrence V. Powderly Gives His Version of the Case.

Explaining Matters in a Light Favorable to Himself—He is Severe on the Secretary-Treasurer.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 14.—Terrence V. Powderly, ex-general master workman of the Knights of Labor, has issued for private circulation among the members of the order a statement containing the inside history of the movement which compelled his voluntary retirement. It forms a pamphlet of thirty-four pages. In a review of the circumstances leading up to the events of last fall which have proved so momentous to the Knights of Labor, Mr. Powderly alludes to the candidacy of John O'Keefe, in 1892, against Mr. Hayes for the office of general secretary-treasurer, which was followed by Mr. O'Keefe's discharge by Hayes from his position in the general office. Mr. O'Keefe's complaint to the general executive board brought to light complaints from other general office employes, all members of the order, of being watched, dogged and browbeaten.

"They asked for redress," says Mr. Powderly, "and the general executive board gave them a hearing in the general office. The general secretary-treasurer, who was present when the clerks and other employes were called before the general executive board, retired and refused to be present at the hearing. The statements made at the hearing were taken down in shorthand and disclosed a condition of affairs which gave the members of the general executive board no little uneasiness. Listening at key holes, picking of pockets, watching of each insignificant move, reading of personal letters, and, in fact, such practices as would not be tolerated in any factory or other industrial institution in the land, were stated to be of daily occurrence in the general office. When the general secretary-treasurer was requested by the board to abolish the system of espionage which prevailed in the office, he denied that any such condition of affairs existed. When we pressed him too hard he said, in substance:

"'I have information that will damn the whole of you. I can go to the world with a statement that you are all engaged in stock jobbing, land speculation, and in every way neglecting the business of the order for personal affairs.'

"When told that would not be true, he said: 'It don't make a bit of difference. Once a lie is told it will go, and I will lie whenever I want to score a point.'"

Mr. Powderly then takes up the presentation by Mr. Hayes of charges against the general executive board, which he denies in every detail. Recounting the consideration of these charges in the last general assembly, Mr. Powderly's statement says:

"When I had spoken for four hours and twenty minutes, all told, and the general secretary-treasurer (Hayes) had concluded his thirteen hour talk, Hugh Grannan, of district assembly 49, stood up and asked the general secretary-treasurer if there was any truth in his charges and he said there was not.

"Did these men misappropriate any of the money of the order? Did they use it for their own personal ends? Have they squandered the funds? were the words of Grennan as near as I can remember them. The answers of the general secretary-treasurer was 'No,' to each question.

"When making his speech, the general secretary-treasurer said: 'I aways wanted to get rich; I want to be rich and I will get rich if I can.' At another time, after explaining the workings of a gas scheme in which he is engaged, he said: 'I am the manager, the treasurer and the board of directors of the company. I made $5,000 on it this morning and I have the money in my inside pocket now.'

"When the St. Louis assembly was in session," continued the statement, "James Hughes told me that the national democratic committee had $5,000 there to defeat me for re-election. I paid no attention to his statements and told him it could not be true. He said he had the proofs. At the banquet given by the St. Louis locals that evening, James R Sovereign, who sat opposite me, wrote on a card and handed it to me. From the card now before me I quote these words: 'There are $5,000 here from the east to defeat your re-election. Say nothing, it will fail.' In conversation he said he was positive that the statement was correct, and that he knew who had the money."

The ex-general master workman closes with an appeal to the members to hold their old assemblies together, but to scrutinize all new ones and not allow so many "paper assemblies" to be organized that the genuine ones will be outvoted at the next general assembly at New Orleans.

Resumes Traffic.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 14.—The Northern Pacific will resume through trains to the east this afternoon. The damage to the road by the flood has been so far repaired as to enable them to resume with very slight delay.

AGAINST THEIR PROTEST

Anti-Saloon League Knocked Out at Valparaiso.

A Bloody Fight at Brazil—Fatalities at Crawfordsville—Other Indiana News.

VALPARAISO, Ind., June 14.—The Anti-Liquor league, a church and prohibition organization, which was organized here a short time ago for the purpose of prohibiting the licensing of saloons by the county commissioners and to prevent the election of any commissioner who would refuse to pledge himself not to grant a license, were completely knocked out by the county commissioners, who have been in session for more than a week. There were nine applications for liquor licenses, every one of which was granted. Seeing that the chances were against them, the leaders of the movement secured the services of an attorney and made a desperate fight against the granting of a license to John Flannery. They remonstrated and petitioned and had a large number of witnesses brought up to prove that he was not of good moral character, but they were unable to prove anything against him worse than that he had sold liquor. He was granted a license.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., June 14.—Two distressing fatalities occurred on the farm of James Warfield, west of Crawfordsville, less than ten minutes apart. Mr. Warfield's little granddaughter, the child of Professor and Mrs. Butterback, of Salina, Kan., swallowed an inch screw during its play, which, lodging in the little one's windpipe, caused death in less than four minutes. The family called for assistance and George Mayer, a farm hand working at the top of a high wind pump, started to respond, but lost his balance and fell thirty feet, breaking both legs and sustaining injuries which the physicians pronounce fatal.

BRAZIL, Ind., June 14.—Two brothers by the name of Ponderford, residing in the west part of the county, engaged in a fight near Hoosierville yesterday afternoon. After a long struggle one of the participants struck the other with a singletree, breaking his left arm and lacerating his face. The injured young man, after recovering from the blow, drew a knife and stabbed his brother in the back and abdomen. The cuts are very deep and dangerous, and there is but little prospect of the young man's recovery.

TERRELL, Ind., June 14.—Four men were prostrated by the heat yesterday. Prof. Hasen Slurms and Fennimore Green are dangerously affected. At Bird's Eye, where men are engaged in roofing, there were several cases of prostration. The temperature today is 101°, with no air stirring.

RICHMOND, Ind., June 14.—Yesterday morning Julian Thomas, a farmer, brought suit against the county for $15,000 damages. Thomas ran a traction engine over a bridge some time ago and the structure gave way, badly injuring him.

LAPORTE, Ind., June 14.—An attempt was made to wreck the Lake Shore fast mail train, west-bound, due here at 7:28, one and one-half miles this side of South Bend. Two piles of ties were placed on the track half a mile apart and the first was seen by the engineer just in time to avoid a terrible accident. He applied the air brakes and stopped so suddenly that the passengers were all thrown from their seats and berths. Headway had hardly been gained when the second obstruction was discovered. There is no clew to the perpetrators, but they are supposed to be tramps who had been ejected from some other train and took revenge in this manner.

MONUMENT MARKS

The Spot of Washington's Headquarters in 1783.

NEW YORK, June 14.—The New York society of the Sons of the American Revolution today laid the base stone of a monument at Dobbs Ferry, designed to mark the spot where Washington had his headquarters in 1783. The monument stands in front of the old Livingstone house in which the Yorktown campaign was planned, and in which the American and British commanders arranged for the final evacutation of American soil by the British and opposite which the British sloop of war fired the first salute ever given by the Britain to America. June 14 was chosen for the laying of the base stone because it is the anniversary of the date when the stars and stripes were first selected as the official national standard of the United States. The monument will be of Maine granite, about ten feet high, with a flat top, on which a statue of the French admiral, Comte de Rochambeau, will be placed at some future date. On the base stones the names of Washington and Rochambeau will be placed. Higher up an inscription will tell what the shaft is to commemorate.

LISTEN TO MANY ADDRESSES.

Indiana Sunday School Workers in Session at Muncie.

MUNCIE, Ind., June 14.—Several hundred more delegates arrived yesterday to attend the state Sunday school convention, and now school's in nearly every county in Indiana is represented. There was almost a continuous meeting until 9 o'clock last evening. The first session was in charge of Geo. S. Fisher, of Abilene, Kas., secretary of the World's Gospel union. Next, reports from the executive committee, state superintendent, treasurer, district presidents and the statistical report were heard. Among the prominent men who made addresses were N. W. Wright, Connorsville; C. D. Meigs, Indianapolis, state superintendent; Rev. J. A. McKamy, chairman executive committee Kentucky Sunday school union; W. C. Hall, Indianapolis; William H. Hell, Dayton, Ohio; John M. Park, Plymouth; C. O. Wildon, South Bend.

RIOTOUS ACTION.

A Band of Coxeyites Seize a Union Pacific Train.

Strikers Fire Upon a Body of Militia and Then Flee—Bridges Blown Upon.

DENVER, Col., June 14.—The 500 Coxeyites who seized a Union Pacific engine at Julesburg last night, and attempted to make up a train to carry them east, were thwarted by the accidental ditching of their engine in switching. They then determined to seize the regular eastbound passenger train from this city, but it was held this side of Julesburg. Fifty deputy United States Marshals have been sent from this city to arrest the Coxeyites should they seize a train.

GREENSBURG, Pa., June 14.—The pump house at the Alverton coak plant of McClure & Co., was blown up with dynamite shortly after midnight. The explosion was terrific and the building was completely wrecked. The strikers are held responsible for the outrage and the perpetrators are said to be known.

BEACH CITY, Ohio, June 14.—Miners fired upon the Barclay Dubbs pickets, second platoon of Logan rifles, stationed one mile below this city, at 3 o'clock this morning, the fire was returned and a patrol quickly formed under Lieutenant Perkins and a thorough search made, but no one was captured. An attack was made on company A, Fourteenth regiment, stationed at Second Bridge, below here. An attempt was made to destroy the railroad bridge at Beach City, but owing to the good picket duty of the first platoon, no damage was done. No shot took effect on the militia.

FROSTBURG, Md., June 14.—The news that Organizer Wilson has been arrested in Lonaconing and taken to Cumberland by Sheriff King, charged with conspiracy, caused a sensation among the Frostburg miners. For some days a break has been expected in Lonaconing, and Wilson was there almost constantly and has used every effort to prevent the miners going to work. While the strikers still insist that they will hold out for fifty cents a ton, it is said by those familiar with the men and with the condition of affairs here that the strike is weakening and that the end is not far off.

OMAHA, Neb., June 14.—Deputy marshals, recruited in Omaha, left today west over the Union Pacific for the scene of the trouble with the 'wealers. They expect to meet the captured train between Julesburg, Colo., and Ogallalla, Neb., as the latest information at Union Pacific headquarters is that the Coxeyites, after capturing the train that was derailed by the mere accident of turning a switch, succeeded in getting it on the track and started east at a high rate of speed. All authorities agree that a desperate fight is almost certain when the Coxeyites and deputies meet. The Union Pacific officials here have information that the men who captured the train are armed miners from Cripple Creek who are trying to get out of the country to avoid arrest for crimes committed there. In anticipation of hot work the deputies are armed each with two Colt revolvers and a Winchester, being supplied with two belts of ammunition and a large extra supply is in the baggage car. The train consists of three day coaches and a baggage car. An effort is to be made to surround the Coxeyites and to take them to some place where the authorities can prevent depredations, as reports from the scene are that the men have created a reign of terror by raiding farms in the vicinity for food. They are on the point of starvation.

MONONGAHELA CITY, Pa., June 14.—The railway trestle at Old Eagle mines, on the Pittsburg and Lake Erie railroad, two and a half miles below here, was burned about daylight, and all traffic has been temporarily suspended. The fire was the work of incendiaries. Everything is reported quiet at Mansown.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, June 14.—As soon as all the miners for whom attachments were issued for contempt of court are under arrest, United States Circuit Judge W. H. Taft, who issued the attachment, will go to Columbus and conduct the trials. The penalty that may be imposed upon them is entirely in the discretion of the court. Five miners were ready for trial today, but must wait for the others.

MIDVALE, Ohio, June 14.—Colonel Coit received a telegram today from General Manager Woodford, stating that the miners threatened to burn the bridges on the Cleveland, Lorain and Wheeling road, south of Uhrichsville, as soon as the bridge here is ready for traffic. Every preparation has been made to protect the bridges.

SULLIVAN, Ind., June 14.—The grand jury has returned seventy-five indictments against the Shelburn striking miners charging them with conspiracy to commit a felony. Eleven additional arrests have been made and deputies are looking for more. Judge Briggs today placed the bond on the miners at $600 and many of them were remanded to jail. The militia is expected to move out of Shelburn tomorrow.

DIED OF THE PLAGUE.

Seventeen Hundred Deaths at Hong Kong.

The Epidemic is Decreasing and Great Precautionary Measures Taken by Europeans.

HONG KONG, June 14.—Seventeen hundred Chinese have died of the plague here since its outbreak on May 4. Despite previous reports to the contrary, the European population up to the present has not been attacked by the disease. The stringent precautionary measures taken by the Europeans are the cause of their immunity from sickness. The epidemic is now decreasing in severity. There has been a general exodus from the Chinese quarters. There were eighty-two deaths from the plague yesterday. The condemned streets in the native quarter have been blockaded by the authorities. Placards have been posted in the streets of Canton, saying that if the governor destroys the Chinese quarters of Hong Kong, the British quarters of Canton, on the island of Shuh-Mien, which is also the principal European section of Canton, will be burned.

WHOLESALE DISMISSALS.

The Omaha Police Board Discharges Twenty-four Patrolmen.

OMAHA, June 14.—For years the American Protective association and Catholic elements on the Omaha police force have disorganized the force and rendered the department practically worthless. At an all night session the fire and police commission last night dismissed all the active representatives of both elements in both the police and detective forces, numbering two dozen. The board declares that if this raid does not induce harmony between the two factions it will dismiss every man belonging to Catholic or A. P. A. organizations and reorganize the force completely. It had reached a point when constant collisions were occurring between the organizations and one side was continually seeking an opportunity to undo the work of the other.

SUSTAINS THE ELECTION BOARD.

Judge Eams Passes on Irregular Ballots in Shelby County.

MOWEAQUA, Ill., June 14.—The Penn township, Shelby county, election contest case was decided yesterday by Probate Judge Eams, affirming the action of the election board in throwing out ballots upon which a name had been written and voted on the morning of election, the name of the regular nominee having been erased from the ticket. The case is a peculiar one and will be appealed at once. Lawyers are waiting with interest the final decision, as upon that hangs the right of a person to write the name of a candidate not a regular nominee by petition or convention upon an Australian ballot, vote the same and have the vote counted.

PROFOUND SENSATION.

Charges Made Against Fifty Prominent Officials.

CITY OF MEXICO, June 14.—A profound sensation has been created in government and social circles of this city by the secretary of the treasury preferring charges against fifty of the prominent officials of his department. The charges are of a criminal nature, it being alleged that the employes wilfully destroyed certain documents belonging to the department with a view of concealing a serious offense, the nature of which has not been made public. Many of those accused have been in the employ of the government for several years and were never before suspected of wrong-doing.

BIG FIRE.

Flames in New York Destroy $1,000,000 Worth of Property.

NEW YORK, June 14.—Fire was discovered early today in the basement of the six story building at Duane and Elm streets, which has caused a loss probably exceeding $1,000,000. The building in which the fire started is occupied by printing establishments and paper box factories and on the upper floor by the Sun Electro-Photograph company. The top stories of the building fell in about half an hour after the fire was detected, and then the flames communicated to the Edison building across the street. Half of the block between Pearl and Duane and west of Elm street had been totally destroyed within an hour.

GIVEN A DIVORCE.

Fair Zella Can Make Life Unhappy for Some Other Man.

MUSCATINE, Iowa, June 14.—Judge Brannon yesterday granted in the district court a decree of divorce to William Nicolaus against Zella Nicolaus, the defendant permitting the case to go by default. The charge upon which the decree was granted was that of adultery, the petition reciting the fact that Zella made a trip to Europe with Al Rubman as his wife. Mr. Nicolaus was here yesterday, but did not care to talk except to say that he was glad he was at last free from Zella.

CARPENTER HANGED.

He Killed His Blind Father Six Months Ago.

MIFFLINTOWN, Pa., June 14.—James B. Carpenter was hanged at 10:53 o'clock this morning. Carpenter killed his father, who was a blind huckster, December 11, 1893. The wife of the murdered man confessed to being an accessory to the crime and is serving a two year's term in the penitentiary.

Official Denial.

RIO DE JANEIRO, June 14.—An official denial is published of the report that General Machido, commander of the government forces, was recently defeated, near the river Pelotas, by the insurgent troops. It is stated that, on the contrary, General Machido routed the insurgents, who were commanded by General Gumercindo, on the banks of the Pelotas, capturing their artillery an ammunition.

FIFTY PEOPLE DROWNED

A Terrible Accident Off the Shores of Ireland.

A Boat Capsizes, Throwing Eighty Harvesters Into the Seething Waters.

CASTLE BAR ISLAND, Ireland, June 14.—A dispatch from Westport Quay, about eleven miles from this city, announces a terrible disaster to a party of harvesters who were on their way to Scotland. A passenger boat to Westport Quay from Achil Island, having on board eighty harvesters, who were to be shipped to Scotland from Westport, capsized. According to the first reports of the disaster, thirty out of the eighty passengers were drowned, but later advices say that it is believed that fifty of the harvesters lost their lives. The boat capsized off Annagh Head. Eighteen bodies have already been recovered but the exact number of persons saved is not known.

BOARD OF ARBITRATION

Meets to Settle a Grievance of Railway Employes.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 14.—A court of arbitration comprising Lieutenant Governor Joseph H. Gill, of Illinois; President Wm. O. Boyd, of the St. Louis Merchants' exchange, and Rev. M. Alexander, of Murphysboro, met here today to determine whether the Mobile and Ohio railroad trainmen, conductors, switchmen and firemen running between St. Louis and Cairo shall suffer a continuance of the reduction of 8 per cent. in their wages, in effect some months past. President J. C. Clark, of the railroad, appeared for his system while the case of the employes was presented by the heads of the various organizations on the road.

Commonwealers Deserting.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 14.—There have been more desertions in the commonweal camp, in the East Bottoms, and out of 300 men who drew rations a week ago not more than 150 are now in camp. Ex-Adjutant General Artz, of Kansas, is now in full command, General Bennett not having visited the camp since Monday. It is claimed that he is in Topeka endeavoring to raise money. Artz rules with an iron hand and drums out of camp every soldier who gives the slightest evidence of insubordination. He says he has forty-six loyal men at least, which he brought from Topeka, and will go on to Washington with these if all the others get left.

DIED AT THE FUNERAL.

Strange Affliction of a Seven-Year-Old Girl at Decatur.

DECATUR, Ind., June 14.—An unusually sad affair occurred in this city Tuesday. Just as the remains of the two-year old daughter of George Wertberger, who died early Monday morning, were about to be conveyed from the residence to the church for the funeral, little Blanche Wertsberger, the seven-year old sister of the dead child, became suddenly distracted and died in a few minutes. The funeral was postponed and yesterday the two sisters were buried in the same grave.

THREE DEAD BODIES

Found Under Circumstances Which Point to Suicide.

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., June 14.—Three bodies were found today near Borden. They were a man, woman and child, and they had been apparently dead for two days. They were all well dressed and had been killed with a revolver. A revolver was found near the bodies. The supposition is that the man killed the woman and child and then committed suicide. They have not been identified.

MANN'S LITTLE JOKE.

It May Not Be So Very Funny After All.

An Elopement Which Will Possibly Terminate in the Arrest of the Groom—Affidavit Drawn.

Yesterday afternoon, at Goshen, Ind., occurred the marriage of Miss Annie Zoeller, aged sixteen, and Clyde Mann. The marriage was the result of an elopement and when the bride and groom reach home Saturday or Monday they they will have to meet a very trying ordeal. In fact, if the groom manages to keep from behing the bars he will be exceedingly lucky. The father-in-law in this case, Roman Zoeller, is a man of determination and he so keenly feels the wrong which has been done him by Mann that he proposes to make things exceedingly hot for the individual who has caused so much consternation in the Zoeller household.

This morning Mr. Zoeller drove down town and at once sought out Prosecuting Attorney Colerick. As a result an affidavit will be drawn charging Mann with perjury and also going after a relative of Mann's by the name of Samuel Barke. It appears that Miss Zoeller is only sixteen years of age and that both Mann and Barke swore to the county clerk that she was of a marriageable age in order to procure the license, all of which is contrary to the law and dignity of the state of Indiana and the statues so provided. If the prosecution is pushed (and there is every likelyhood that it will be) the new husband, if proven guilty, will get anywhere from two to twenty years in the penitentiary or be compelled to pay a fine of anywhere from $50 to $1,000. This is an exceedingly gloomy outlook for Mr. Mann, to say nothing of the feelings of the bride.

The story of the elopement is no different from others which are constantly occurring. Mann is a tailor by trade and runs a small shop a few doors south of Zoeller & Merz's grocery, on South Calhoun street. About two weeks ago Miss Annie met Mann for the first time and a case of love at first sight followed. Seeing how matters stood, on Sunday Mr. Zoeller told his daughter that she must have nothing more to do with the tailor. Mr. Zoeller had every reason for this that a loving and indulgent father could have. In the first place her parents thought the girl too young to marry and especially a man whom she had known only two weeks and who was almost a perfect stranger to them. The young girl had been given every advantage by her father and had been a pupil at the Academy of the Sacred Heart.

The couple disappeared about 10 o'clock yesterday morning but were not missed until in the afternoon when Mr. and Mrs. Zoeller drove out to the Academy to see if their daughter was there as she told them early in the day she intended going there. Upon returning, Mr. Zoeller picked up his SENTINEL and saw the account of the marriage license having been issued. About 9 o'clock last evening he received a telegram reading: "At Goshen and now married. Will be home Saturday or Monday. Signed, Annie."

CIGAR STANDS GO NEXT.

The Little Cigarette Suddenly Becomes a Nuisance.

The Board of Public Works Looking Ahead—They Think They "Smell a Mice"—A Surprise.

The board of public safety is just now endeavoring to recover from a surprise which made them $2,000 wiser and poorer.

From the fatiguing work of cutting off the heads of policemen the board has, during the past few days, been engaged in the more edifying task of auditing and allowing claims. The board was exceedingly surprised upon discovering that the No. 1 engine house was encumbered with a $2,000 mortgage, when all along they had thought it free from debt. It is quite likely the board will use up more funds than they have been allowed by the city council, owing to the fact that they have had to pay so many back claims.

NIGGER IN THE WOODPILE.

The members of the board were very indignant this morning at the report circulated upon the streets that they had ordered the arrest and fine of the Italian fruit venders for being open on Sunday. They did not approve of the course.

One member of the board said this morning that he was greatly pleased with the recent statement of the prosecuting attorney that he intended stopping the sale of cigarettes. "There is something behind this sudden streak of morality, however," said he, "and you can mark my words it is the first step towards the closing of every cigar stand in Fort Wayne on Sunday, and if I am not badly mistaken the saloon men are at the bottom of the whole thing. Some very "fine" work is being done to make the Sunday closing of saloons unpopular."

FORT WAYNE HONORED.

D. J. Shaw Elected to an Important Office.

He is Made President of the Retail Butchers' Association of the United States—A Special.

At noon today THE SENTINEL received the following special:

WHEELING, W. Va., June 14.

To the Editor of the SENTINEL.

D. J. Shaw has been elected president of the Retail Butchers' association of the United States. The American Retail association, of Connecticut, and the National association have been consolidated. G. HALLER.

This is quite an honor to a well known Fort Wayne citizen. Mr. Shaw is a prominent democratic politician and has been engaged in the retail butcher business in Fort Wayne for many years.

The other officers elected were:

First Vice President—Conrad K. Lingbower, Evansville, Ind.

Second Vice President—Fred C. Loh, Buffalo, N. Y.

Secretary—Christopher Brokat, St. Louis, Mo.

Treasurer—Charles Noll, St. Louis, Mo.

Inside Guard—John L. Hogar, Kansas City, Mo.

Outside Guard—Adolph Gardner, Dallas, Texas.

The consolidation with the Connecticut State Butchers' association makes the National association the strongest organization of the kind in the United States.

Twenty different organizations are represented, coming from New England to Texas, and about two hundred delegates and visitors were in the hall when the meeting was called to order. The meeting is the most important the association has ever held, for they expect to increase their organization in such a way that it will be invincible, and they will be able to present a strong front to their most powerful foe, the "Big Four," as the big western dressed beef men are called.

FORT WAYNE is proud of her public schools and we all join in wishing the graduates of tonight a "God speed."

THE Argus-News, which for twenty years has posed as non-partisan, has come out full fledged under the democratic standard.

THE Prendergast case at Chicago will certainly go down as one of the most bungled trials in the annals of American jurisprudence.

OUR citizens are starting out in the right way to make Fort Wayne's centennial anniversary a success. It will be the grandest event in our city's history.

THEY do some things on a great scale in England. The new free public library building in Manchester will contain 80,000 volumes and this will give a total of 420,000 volumes housed in five libraries for free public use. Fort Wayne ought to make a note of this.

THE republicans of the city will hold their caucuses this evening for the election of delegates to their county convention, which is to be held next Saturday, and now, while the thermometer is up above the nineties, we desire to impress upon them those words of advice—keep cool. They will disregard the advice, however. They will not keep cool, either at their caucuses tonight or at their Saturday convention. They will have a hot time. There is an animated struggle for the different nominations to be made and the candidates have been active. They will hardly heed our injunction to "keep cool."

EVERYBODY does not know that by a very simple rule the duration of night and day can be determined at any time of the year. All you have to do is to multiply the time of the sun's rising by two and it will give you the length of the night. Multiply the time of the setting by two and you get the length of the day. It is easily demonstrated at the time of the year when the sun rises and sets at 6 o'clock, and day and night are of equal duration. It is just as true as the days lengthen and shorten. Thus, as winter approaches take a day when the sun rises at 6.30 and sets at 5.30. Apply the rule and you have a night of thirteen hours and of eleven. The rule will be found absolutely accurate at any season of the year.

MANY and perhaps fully one half of the public schools of the country will observe today as the anniversary of the adoption of the United States flag. On June 14, 1777, the congress of the thirteen original states, sitting in Philadelphia, adopted the first common American ensign, one which, with a minor change in the stars of the "union," is identical with our present national banner. About five or six years ago public schools in the old commonwealth of Massachusetts, at the suggestion of the board of education, began to celebrate the anniversary, some simply with recitations and declamations, others with appropriate historical papers, processions and singing of patriotic songs. From the old Bay state the innovation spread rapidly through the New England states until now it has become a practice, and almost all the district and many of the private New England schools commemorate the day in one way or another. Many of the western and some of the southern states officially recognize the day. Individual teachers in other states proceed on their own initiative and pay tribute in a diversity of manners to the occasion, many of them receiving assistance from local posts of the Grand Army of the Republic.

THE coal miners' strike affords about the best argument in favor of some form of arbitration that we have seen in years. Both sides have been obstinate and unruly—the workmen sullenly demanding one scale, the operators arrogantly offering another. After weeks of bloodshed and rioting, during which whole sections of the country are thrown into a state approximating civil war and the people put under an intolerable burden of expense, the parties come together. They agree upon a compromise which either side would have rejected indignantly a few weeks ago. Meantime the operators have suffered from the inaction of their mines the loss of millions, and the men have wasted their savings, impoverished their union and permitted themselves to become charges on the community. It has been a losing game from any point one sees it, the public, as usual, losing more than either operator or miner. A host of argument against the viciousness of paternalism does not avail against such an example as this. Most people will see in the end of a strike, after a fight of uncommon bitterness and expensiveness, a reason, that upsets all theories as to the right of free contract, for compulsory arbitration of wage differences.

INDIANA is the one state in the union which is always a puzzle to the politicians. Nobody can safely claim it until the votes are counted. It began to wobble twenty years ago and since that time it has been quick to express its approbation or condemnation of the party in power. It gave Grant 17,000 plurality in 1872 and Tilden 5,000 plurality in 1876. In 1880 it went back to Garfield with 6,000 plurality, and four years later indorsed Cleveland with the same figures. In 1888 under the "favorite son" inspiration it pulled through for Harrison by 2,000 plurality, but in 1892 it returned to Cleveland by over 7,000. So it will be seen that Indiana appears to be a kicker against the party in power, but there is another point which should not be overlooked. Indiana has shown a strong devotion to Cleveland. It gave him a larger plurality than it gave Tilden, and that Mr. Hendricks was not responsible for this is evidenced by the fact that Mr. Cleveland's largest plurality was gained in the year in which an Indiana man was not on the ticket. Had not General Harrison been nominated in 1888 there is no doubt that Mr. Cleveland would have carried the state. As it was, local pride just scratched General Harrison through, and even local pride revolted to an extent in 1892 of giving to Mr. Cleveland the largest plurality obtained by any democratic candidate for the presidency since the war.

Imprisoning Newspaper Men.

The senate investigating committee is quite right to try to make Messrs. E. J. Edwards of the Philadelphia Press and J. S. Shriver of the New York Mail and Express tell who gave them the information that certain senators had held a conference in Washington with representatives of the Sugar trust, and that the sugar tariff schedule had been in the hands of a firm of brokers before it had been reported to the senate. On their part likewise Messrs. Edwards and Shriver are quite right in absolutely refusing to tell the source of their knowledge, declaring that they will go to jail first.

The most important case of imprisoned newspaper correspondents in this country occurred during the progress of the Alabama claims negotiations, when White and Ramsdell of the New York Tribune procured and gave to their paper a copy of the treaty between Great Britain and the United States before the United States senate had solemnly given it out for publication. The senate was considering it at the time in executive session, with closed doors, and the publication of it was justly regarded as a great stroke of journalism. White and Ramsdell were imprisoned in a committee room instead of being sent to jail, and the greatest hardship they endured was said by one of them to be that in dining they had to wipe their lips upon table napkins that had been stiffly starched. But they never told anything, and to this day it is not known who gave them the treaty.

The punishment for refusing to answer the questions of a congressional committee is a fine of not more than $1,000 or less than $100 and imprisonment for not more than one year or less than one month. Undoubtedly any paper would cheerfully pay even the outside sum fixed for one of its correspondents who had given valuable information, and he would be a brave judge indeed who should venture to sentence a reputable newspaper man who had a habit of telling the truth to prison for a year because he would not divulge the source of important news.

In each of the cases in question it will be observed that the trouble arose from the senate's absurd and puttering habit of surrounding its actions with an air of secrecy. If the senate wanted to consultprominent sugar refiners as well as sugar importers on a matter of vital importance to them and to all the American people, they had a perfect right to do so. If they had done it openly and above board, as all public officials should do all things, nobody would have thought anything of it. Men who are perfectly honest and fearless have nothing to conceal. It was the stupid hiding of their tracks and actions that led the public to suspect, justly or unjustly, that some of the senators were sugaring themselves up with sugar.

The question is always with us how far a priest may keep the secrets of the confessional, a physician those confided to him by his patients or a newspaper correspondent the source of his information. Public opinion has decided that unless life and death are involved or unless innocent parties are about to suffer a great wrong all these confidential agents are justified in keeping silence. Certainly newspaper correspondents must do so, or the public would be deprived of vital news at times. The individual who gives the public news with more or less risk to himself and with nothing between him and loss except the newspaper reporter's word of honor is entitled to feel assured that that word of honor is a sacred oath.

There will not be any false election returns at Coney Island for at least several years to come. Boss John Y. McKane is in Sing Sing. Justice Sutherland of Gravesend, who caused false election returns to be made, will soon join him there, as soon as he serves out a year in the Kings County penitentiary. Justice Newton, also of the returning board, is in jail. Inspector Jamieson, who bore false witness at his examination, is in the penitentiary. Indictments were found against 21 persons, and these 21 have now all been sentenced to longer or shorter imprisonments. Before he went to the penitentiary Justice Sutherland confessed that in 1893, at the election in Gravesend, 1,000 or 1,100 fictitious votes were cast. Squire Sutherland himself folded up several hundred of these fictitious ballots and saw them deposited in the ballot box. The ocean breezes will sweep purer over Coney Island after this wholesale cleaning out.

Those who watched the progress of the Topolobampo co-operative colony in Mexico will regret to learn that it, too, has failed. The Topolobampo colonists were people of superior intelligence, and their failure was unfortunate. However, 250 of them will remain and perfect their title to farms, so that the thing may not be an unmitigated failure after all.

THE LATE JOHN JAY.

HE WAS A BORN PATRIOT AND LIVED AS ONE.

When the Slave Question Threatened the Destiny of the Nation He Was for Freedom and Was Promptly Pronounced a Howler and Crank.

FEW READERS OF the newspapers can have failed to note the unusual accent of sincerity in the expressions of regret that were published when John Jay died, within a fortnight of completing his 77th year. Expressions of this kind concerning a citizen so distinguished by his descent and by his long and active participation in public affairs were to be expected as a matter of course, which is as much as to say that they were expected to be perfunctory. But when they proceeded from writers who had known Mr. Jay they were not perfunctory, but were the statements of the charm which he exercised on all those who enjoyed his acquaintance.

Mr. Jay might have passed through life without taking part in its activities. An ample fortune and the best place in American society were secured to him from his birth. He was a scion of one of the most distinguished of the colonial and revolutionary families of New York, and the grandson of that John Jay, first chief-justice of the Supreme court of the United States, of whom Daniel Webster said, in a famous speech, that when the ermine fell upon John Jay it touched nothing that was not as spotless as itself. His birth, his wealth and his tastes seemed to designate him for a life of lettered ease. But his spirit was too ardent to permit sloth. Almost as soon as he had attained his majority he became an active anti-slavery man, at a time when activity in that cause was taken in respectable circles at the north as the mark of an unbalanced mind, if not as an actual brand of social disrepute, and he never faltered in his attachment to the cause, or in his efforts in behalf of it, until the victory had been won. Slavery disposed of he turned his attention to other causes that seemed to him good. He was one of the earliest and most earnest advocates of civil service reform, and was appointed by Gov. Cleveland of New York a member of the state civil service commission. The only conspicuous public office, properly speaking, that he ever held was that of minister to Austria under Gen. Grant. He was never a politician in the ordinary sense of the term, but he was a public spirited citizen, who gave himself heartily and unselfishly to the redress of abuses and to the establishment of what he deemed right principles. Until the infirmities of age overtook him he was an ardent controversialist upon subjects some of which the ordinary politicians regarded as too burning to be safely handled. One of these was the relation of church and state. That was one of the topics on which an ardent controversialist would be apt both to exhibit and to excite rancorous feelings. But there was no rancor in John Jay. His courtesy disarmed the hostility his outspokenness might have created, and it is not likely that his controversies ever made him a personal enemy. Certainly that must have been a rooted hostility that could withstand the benignity and the charm of his presence, or that could have affronted a man so utterly incapable of rudeness on his own part. Mr. Jay's public career, if it may be called so, was a life-long illustration of the advantage of being a gentleman.

A SLIGHT ERROR.

The Story of a Woman Who Didn't Want to Take a Bath.

"A funny thing happened at the hospital the other day," said the doctor. "The principal surgeon of our staff called up the superintendent by telephone and said:

"'I have sent Mrs. Brown over to the hospital. I will be over there in an hour to operate on her. See that she is bathed and ready.'

"Then he rang off.

"Twenty minutes later a quiet little woman came in and seated herself in the reception room. The superintendent had been busy over other matters, but as soon as she saw the visitor she remembered the message. Putting aside her papers, she stepped into the next room.

"'Good morning,' said she. 'I heard you were to be here. Step this way.'

"The woman followed to the elevator and so to the third floor, where the superintendent, calling the nurse aside, said in an undertone:

"'This is Mrs. Brown. See that she has a bath and is prepared for operation and give her room D.'

"'Step this way,' said the head nurse, and the quiet little woman followed her into the dressing room adjoining the bath.

"The superintendent had just rung for the elevator when she heard a ruction in the bathing department. Hurrying in, she saw the quiet woman in an attitude of defense and the nurse dancing around for an opening.

"'Why, what is the matter, Miss Smith?' cried the superintendent in amazement.

"'This lady refuses to take a bath.'

"'But she must take a bath,' replied the superintendent.

"'Why should I take a bath? I bathed this morning,' said the quiet woman.

"'The rule requires it. You cannot go into the operating room without a bath,' responded the superintendent.

"'But I don't want to go into the operating room. I called to see my brother, who is in the casualty ward.'"

Then they all went down stairs and found the real patient [illegible]

Some of them have been sent to distant provinces while others have been imprisoned. The dispatch adds that it has transpired that in his political testament the late sultan directed that a council of regency be appointed until his young son, Abdul Aziz, the present sultan, attains his majority.

LABOR UNIONS UNITE.

The American Railway Union and the Knights of Labor.

The Combination Accomplished at Chicago Last Night—Affairs About the Shops.

At Chicago yesterday two of the greatest labor organizations in the world, the American Railway union and the Knights of Labor, formed an alliance. The combined membership of the associations is about 351,000. Both are increasing at a rate hitherto unknown in the labor world. The American Railway union has 425 local unions, 125,000 men, and is taking in an average of 2,000 persons in the railway service daily, increasing its local organization by not less than 120 a month. The Knights of Labor, taking on new life since the installation of Grand Master Workman Sovereign, gained 105 new local assemblies in April, 109 in May and is adding hundreds every day to its strength.

Concerning the alliance a dispatch from Chicago says: "The coalition of these great bodies at this time is significant. The convention of national labor organizations in St. Louis, from the adjournment of which Mr. Sovereign hastened to be present at the second day's session of the general convention of the American Railway union, was a failure so far as co-operation in the labor field was concerned. The struggle between the new union and the old brotherhoods of railway men was carried into the convention, and though the former was not represented, the grand officers of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, the Order of Railway Conductors, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Order of Railway Telegraphers expressed themselves as unalterably opposed to the plan of uniting men in other than strictly class organizations. In this they were joined by the representatives of the American Federation of Labor. The vote is understood to have been 11 to 6 against the federation of any two or more of the bodies entering the convention, the Knights of Labor voting solidly for unification."

RAILWAY CAR MEN'S UNION.

An Associated Press dispatch from Chicago is as follows: Members of the Railway Car Men's union elected officers here today and adjourned their annual session. The election resulted as follows:

Grand Chief Car Man—J. D. Stevenson, East St. Louis.

Vice Grand Chief Car Man—F. A. Simonds, Texarkana.

Secretary and Treasurer—F. L. Sanicome, Estherville, Iowa.

Executive Board—Wm. Prince, Chattanooga; Ira T. Corbitt, Fort Worth, Texas; and Wm. Boyd, Omaha.

The convention will next meet in biennial session in June, 1896, at Chattanooga. The general offices of the union will be moved to Kansas City.

WE HAD HEARD ABOUT IT.

Telephone messages have been coming into The Sentinel office every half hour today announcing an event which is of considerable importance and one which our reporter had heard during his early morning rounds of the railroad offices. The messages were something like this:

"Hello!"

"Hello," was the answer. "What is it?"

"Did you hear about it?" came the reply.

"Hear about what?"

"Why, Dick Thompson!"

"Oh, yes. Pretty good, isn't it?"

All these messages were because of the arrival at 4 o'clock this morning, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard G. Thompson, 61 Broadway, of a handsome boy baby.

Dick was out on the streets early telling the news to his friends, and the first person he met was Col. Ceil Higgins, who, when he heard it, embraced Dick long and lovingly.

At his office today the popular passenger agent of the Wabash has been the recipient of congratulations without number, many of them having come to him over the telegraph wires from the officials and along the line of the road, they having heard of it in some mysterious manner.

MINOR MENTION.

The Wabash pay car is due here Friday, June 22.

The roads terminating at Galveston, Tex., will erect a union depot at a cost of $75,000.

Machinist Henry Noll has resumed work in the Wabash shops after a few days' illness.

Machinist Harvey Stahl will spend next week at Muncie looking after private business.

Two hundred people formed the Fort Wayne Grays' excursion to Rome City this morning.

Ben McFarren, of the Pittsburg store room, is off duty today attending the wedding of his sister.

After a week's illness Boilermaker W. H. Cherry has returned to his work in the Pittsburg shops.

E. G. Pierce and C. L. McElfatrick, machinists in the Pittsburg shops, are off duty on account of sickness.

John Lawrence, the man who was struck by a Wabash local freight train at Huntington last Monday, died at 5 o'clock this morning from the injuries thus received.

John Rhinesmith was fishing at Warsaw yesterday with a party of friends.

F. Scherer, the veteran cabinetmaker in the Pittsburg shops, is taking a short vacation.

On account of sickness, Andy Huber is absent from his duties in the Pittsburg planing mills.

Next Monday the Ladies' society of Westminster church will run an excursion to Rome City.

In April, 1893, the Chicago and Rock Island had 13,374 men in its employ; in April, 1894, but 10,723.

John J. Rogers, of Chicago, traveling commercial agent of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad, was in the city today.

Roswell Miller, president of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, has returned from Europe, after an absence of three months.

Machinist Charles Taylor is again detained from his work in the Bass shops by the illness of his wife. The lady is much worse.

Eckart & Orr are having a 500 light alternating dynamo placed in their factory. The machine was purchased of the Electric Light company.

John Keintz is in a precarious condition, being afflicted with kidney disease. Mr. Keintz is an engineer and for a number of years has been employed on the Grand Rapids road.

John Ewing and A. A. Davis, car builders in the Pittsburg shops, have resumed work. Mr. Ewing has been sick about five months and Mr. Davis was sick several weeks.

The electric light company shipped another seventy-five light Wood arc dynamo to the Calumet Gas company, Chicago, today, making the third shipment this week to that firm.

It is stated by a high official of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul that there is not a division on the system which is not now paying operating expenses and fixed charges.

W. V. Powell, the newly elected grand chief of the Order of Telegraphers, has taken rooms at one of Chicago's best hotels. He claims the organization now has 35,000 members.

W. E. Davis, yardmaster of the Pittsburg, has been elected a member of the advisory board of the Pennsylvania Voluntary Relief association, he getting 519 out of 1,013 votes. There were two other candidates.

Four switch engines belonging to the Chicago yards went into the Fort Wayne shops for general repairs this morning. The Pennsylvania company is expecting a good business later in the season and is preparing for it.

An official circular announces the appointment of F. M. Whitaker as general manager of the Kanawha Dispatch, vice Sydney Hall, deceased. Mr. Whitaker has been connected with the Chesapeake and Ohio ten years or more.

Railway telegraphers have suffered more by the depression in business than any other class of employes. Every day from eight to ten of them pass through this city, stopping here only long enough to learn that there is no work for them.

Last evening's Times-Democrat, of Lima, Ohio, says: "Ed Erickson, of Fort Wayne, the well known and popular passenger conductor on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago, and an enthusiastic Elk, came over this morning to see the show this evening."

The Pennsylvania base ball club and a team composed of the employes of the Pennsylvania company at Allegheny City will play ball at Warsaw June 23, the date of the shopmen's excursion. July 21 our team will go to Allegheny to play the club at that city.

The Indianapolis and Terre Haute division of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers announce that they will aid in pushing the investigation now in progress and will permit no cessation until the murderer of Wm. Barr, the Vandalia engineer, is brought to justice.

The Michigan branch of the Big Four road will not burn wood on their engines, as stated. The property owners along the line remonstrated against such a change on the grounds that the engines, not being fitted with fire screens, would throw out showers of sparks at every exhaust.

Work is coming into the Bass shops in a highly gratifying manner at present. Yesterday the firm received a handsome order for car axles from the Sheffield Velocipede and Car company, of Three Rivers, Mich., and an order for a small boiler from an ice cream manufacturing establishment at Columbia City.

General Passenger and Ticket Agent Lomax, of the Union Pacific, declares that he has withdrawn all side-trip privileges on the rates to the Denver conventions, as agreed by the Western Passenger association, and says that if the Erie or any other line insists on selling tickets with the side-trip privileges they will have to pay the Union Pacific full fare.

H. M. Quicksell, of the Star Union line, returned from Pittsburg this morning, and went to Warsaw to attend the convention of the butter and egg men. Mr. Quicksell says that 270 freight agents are in attendance at the convention now in session at Pittsburg, and they are having a royal time. Tomorrow the agents will have an excursion to Horse Shoe Bend.

No. 5, the Pennsylvania limited, made the run from Crestline to Fort Wayne this morning in two hours and thirty-nine minutes. The schedule time of the train is three hours and seven minutes. The train was a heavy one, having eight cars, and the run is considered a remarkably good one. Engineer Harry Rogers and Fireman George Brown had charge of the engine.

P. J. McGuire, of Philadelphia, first vice president of the American Federation of Labor and secretary of the National Brotherhood of United Carpenters, will arrive in the city over the Pittsburg Friday noon and will deliver an address from the court house steps, if the weather is favorable, or if stormy, in the circuit court room on that evening. Mr. McGuire is a good speaker.

West bound passenger rates are again becoming somewhat unsettled. A belief prevails that the Lake Erie and Western, in connection with the Chicago and Alton, is cutting the agreed rates just enough to carry considerable business. In passenger circles there is a feeling that a boycott of the Lake Erie and Western would simply advertise its line, and to take such action would be unwise. Still, it is likely to lead to competing lines making as low rates as does the Lake Erie and Western, the Chicago and Alton and the Union Pacific to Denver or any other point west, as the manipulating of rates, if reports are true, is by no means confined to Denver business.

The Puzzle Solved.

Perhaps no local disease has puzzled and baffled the medical profession more than nasal catarrh. While not immediately fatal, it is among the most nauseous and disgusting ills the flesh is heir to, and the records show very few or no cases of radical cure of chronic catarrh by any of the modes of treatment until the introduction of Ely's Cream Balm a few years ago. The success of this preparation has been most gratifying and surprising. No druggist is without it.

OLD FRIENDS.

Things We Have All Heard Many, Many Times.

The Hero (sadly)—Miss Marbleheart, I am going away.

The Heroine (with a gasp)—Heaven! Going aw-a-ay?

First Old Man (to first young woman)—Come here, me ch-ee-ee—ild, and sit by me feet. (Slow music.) Many years ago, when your father was but a little boy, etc.

The Irate Husband (to the flirtatious wife)—Hismame, wo-oman! Give me his n-name.

The Detective (in act 4, scene 4, to the villain)—One mo—ment! Come with me!

The heroine (describing the hero to the heroine's bosom friend)—Oh, Frances, do you not know him—how noble he is, how good, how tr-r-ue! (Repeat with coda.)

The Conspirator—Hah! We must dissemble!

The Hero (to the villain)—Your base plot has succeeded now, but listen to me, Archibald Magaffy, an hour of reckoning w-will come.

The Impecunious Lover—And you will wait for me?

The Heiress—For-ever. (Music.)

The Leading Lady (to anybody)—Listen, Gertrude. Latest night, as I was coming up the garden walk, I heard the sound of voices behind the hedge. Thinking it might be some of the servants, at first I paid no attention, when, suddenly turning the corner, I came face to face with a man. Hah! It was Algernon Traversourt!

The Heroine (excitedly)—I do love you, but I—can—never—be—your—wife!

The Wife—Harold, you are keeping something from me. What is it?

The Leading Gentleman (to the villain)—No, sir! I spurn your proposition! Better poverty with an honest name than riches with dishonor. (Prolonged applause from the galleries.)—Exchange.

He Was Considerate.

When the business man saw the tramp approach him in his office, he very naturally concluded that the time had come to take up a collection, but the tramp did not come at him that way.

"Excuse me, sir," he said, "are you married?"

The business man was slightly disconcerted.

"Yes," he replied, half in doubt.

"Wife living?"

"Yes."

"How many children?"

"Six."

"Any grown daughters?"

"Three."

"Own your own house?"

"Yes."

"Got any horses and carriages?"

"Yes."

"Got servants, I suppose?"

"Yes; half dozen."

It wasn't any of the tramp's business, but the business man was humoring him.

"Are you rich?"

"Hardly that, I guess."

"I'm very much obliged for the information. Good day," and the tramp started out.

"Here, hold on!" exclaimed the business man. "What the deuce do you mean by coming at me in that style? Are you a census taker?"

"Hardly that, sir," smiled the tramp, "but I make it a rule in my profession never to strike a man in your fix for a dime unless he is at least a millionaire. I don't always get it from a millionaire, and I always do from your kind, and it makes me feel like I was imposing on good nature. Good morning, sir," and again the tramp started off, and the business man never said a word.

"Well," exclaimed the tramp after he had got outside, and as he gazed into his empty palm, with a comical grin, "I wonder how his nibs got on to my snap? I'm dead sure I never tried him before."—Detroit Free Press.

Eggers, 139 Florida street, San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching consumption, tried without result everything else, then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. Liberty Bell.

PHILADELPHIA, June 14.—The old Liberty bell has been taken down from the place where it has been suspended in Independence hall and placed in a handsome square pavilion made of quartered oak and glass. It is situated now in the middle of the east room, occupying seventy-two square feet of floor space and is the most striking of all the relics, by reason of its magnificent house.

The Yarn That Failed.

A young American once found himself in an English country house. He was not a bad young American, but he carried the habit of self glorification beyond the possible point, so that he got himself disliked, and ordinary men said that he was a liar. A son of the house took him aside and spoke to him delicately upon the subject.

"Week," the American said, "it would hurt me to offend any of your insular prejudices, but the fact is that when I commence to blaff my tongue sorter runs away with me. I'd take it kindly if you'd give me a nudge or a kick or something when you think I'm spreading it too thick."

The son of the house said he would. That night the American took an English heiress in to dinner, and she happened to refer to conservatories. It started the American.

"I had a cousin in Virginia who built himself a greenhouse that was thought remarkable. It was 413 feet long, 90 feet high and"— Here his shin was kicked under the table, and the son of the house caught his eye. He rubbed the dent and added, with a sigh, "and about an inch deep."—Tit-Bits.

MANY CREDITORS.

Their Names Would Fill an Eight Page Paper.

DENVER, Colo., June 14.—L. C. Ellsworth, the assignee of Humphrey B. Chamberlain and the Chamberlain Investment company, is quoted by the Republican as saying that he has not one dollar to pay several millions of debts. Mr. Chamberlain's assets aggregate in face value $2,000,000, and brought $100 at public sale. The investment company has about $6,000,000 of shares in mining corporations to offset proved claims of $2,5000,000, but these assets, which are to be sold next Monday, are not expected to realize any more than did those of Mr. Chamberlain's. A full list of the creditors, who are in all parts of the world, would fill an eight-page newspaper.

The recent letter from the judge of Awards on Baking Powders at the Chicago World's Fair, exposing the fraudulent claim of a Chicago house that its baking powder had received the highest award for strength, purity, excellence, etc., a scathing rebuke to those manufacturers of cheap baking powders who have no regard for the truth, but habitually seek, in their public announcements, to deceive consumers. The Judge of Awards states that no such award was given to the Chicago concern, and has notified it that it must cease publishing his name in connection with its false statements.

How to Give a Fomentation.

Only those who have not tried the remedial effects of water, both hot and cold, doubt the efficacy in many forms of disease. It is perfectly safe to apply a fomentation in case of severe pain before a physician is summoned, and very often it relieves the sufferer before he arrives. This is the way to do it: Take half a dozen thicknesses of flannel large enough to more than cover the seat of the pain, fasten them together, for convenience in handling, wring them out of very hot water, (use a clothes wringer to save the hands) and apply as hot as the patient can bear it. A dry flannel may be put between the skin and the wet cloth, if preferred, and over all a large flannel should be placed to keep the heat in. When the cloth begins to feel cold, it should be wrung again. Three or four applications will generally relieve a stiff neck or an attack of rheumatism in a joint.

A fomentation may be needed when there is no hot water in the house. It may be quickly prepared by wringing out the flannel compress in cold water, laying it between the folds of newspaper and putting it on a hot stove or holding it around a stove pipe until hot. The paper protects the cloth, and when steam begins to come out can be easily removed.

An Efficient Heating Gas Burner.

As the base of this burner, where it is attached to the gas supply tube, is supplied with apertures to admit air to mingle with the gas before it reaches the point of combustion, while the tube which surrounds the flame has air-receiving openings on its under surface and smaller air-discharging apertures in its upper surface, where the tube is impinged upon by the flame. The tube thus being raised to a high temperature, and correspondingly heating the air discharged therefrom to mingle with the burning gas, is designed to afford the most perfect combustion, with the attainment of the highest possible degree of efficiency for the quantity of gas consumed. The illustration represents the practical construction followed in the application of the improvement recently patented.—Scientific American.

Our Crowning Effort

Our Competitors Are Bewildered—The Public Are Amazed.

The Most Stupendous Stroke of Merchandising

IN THE HISTORY OF FORT WAYNE.

When we advertised our sale of All-Wool Suits for Men at $8.88 we were honest in our conviction, when we said that we would never be in a position to give you more for your money but our last purchase of an entire wholesale stock consisting of nearly 1,600 Men's Suits will throw the former sale in the shade. This has been a season of surprises and WE are as much surprised in our ability to sell goods at such prices as you are to buy them.

We Are The Leading Progressive Clothiers

Of this city and are always alive to the interests of our patrons. The people of Fort Wayne and vicinity look to us for CORRECT, STYLISH CLOTHING for Men and Boys of all ages at the Lowest Possible Price, and they get it every time

NEW SPRING STYLES IN All-Wool Suits for Men! $4.98

Of course you will be surprised at the price—but we can afford to sell them at that and it leaves us a very small margin. We say to you that these suits are all-wool, stylishly cut and well made. They come in light and dark colors and you will find no better at $8 or $10 in any other store in the city.

SEE OUR WINDOW DISPLAY.

NEW SPRING STYLES IN All-Wool Suits for Men! $7.38

Fine long cut sack suits or cutaway frock suits in light and dark colors. They come in Worsteds, Cheviots and Cassimeres, are thoroughly tailored, sewed with silk and the linings and trimmings are first-class. We want you to compare these suits with the best that other houses can show you at $12.

SEE OUR WINDOW DISPLAY.

NEW SPRING STYLES IN Extra Fine Suits for Men! $9.88

We notice that one of our competitors in a recent advertisement claims that it is impossible (for them) to sell a suit for $10.00 that is worth $18.00.

GENTLEMEN

We ask you to compare these suits with what others will show you at $18 and $20. They are extra fine in quality, make and finish and come in neat, quiet patterns for dress wear.
